gives an account of an encounter between Police launch and barge belonging to the Police Department of Taips and a large number pirates who were lying in ambush somewhere on the beach of Ribeira da Prata which is in the neighbourhood of Taipa, Chinese territory. The Independente says :- In | Supper-Mr. A. MacClymont (Convener), Mr consequence of suspicion or information the launch and barge were in search of a junk balonging to the pirates, and were, misled by the people of a sampan who said that the pirates were not in that locality. The pirates, on the other hand, noticing the barge—the launch could not come nearer the shore for want of waterdischarged a volley against the police, which showed that they were in large numbers and more than the Police could fight, and the latter had to beat a retreat maintaining a cover ing fire. There were no casualties on the part of the Police, but the barge was found to be riddled with bullets. It has not been ascertained whether the pirates suffered any loss. Independents goes on to say that it appears that the conflict took place outside Portu guese jurisdiction, but even so it thinks in such cases it would be convenient to assemble all launches and raise a siege, which would not be difficult around a small island. is probable that the Chinese Authorities would co-operate in the destruction of the miscreants, but at any rate, to combat them does not amount to usurping territorial rights; the English and Partuguese have both suppressed pirates in Chi ness territory without remonstrance from China When dealing with pirates, international rights are modified by circumstances. "We are of opinion," says our contemporary, "that it would be of great advantage that our Government in accord with the Chinese authorities on the measures to be adopted when the evil-doors are, as at present, gathered in large numbers or ground where there are no protectors of the both sides was anything but up to the mark. public. JUBILEE ORICKET MATCH

A match between the Officers of Her Majesty' Army, Navy, and Civil Services and the Hongkong Cricket Club was played on the Cricket Ground yesterday, terminating in a draw slightly in favour of the Services. Had the game been played out the finish must have been a most exciting one, as the scores will show.

The Services won the toss and decided on going in. They commenced badly, losing their first three wickets for 26. The first stand was made by Scanlan and Lloyd. The former played driving. At 160 Lloyd, who had scored 58 (with one chance), unfortunately played one on to his wicket. His runs were very quickly put tois playing well this year, both in the batting and fielding line, after adding 31 to the total, was tempted out of his ground, and cleverly stumped | them on board. by Platt. Scanlan was the next to fall. He played most correct cricket for his 49. Matthews made 14 not out. The bowling and fielding on The Club commenced their innings by sending in Barff and E. W. Maitland, who soon collared the bowling, and runs came fast. Barff to grant trucg to evildoers simply because they joined his brother, and in his first over gave two vices paid dearly for it, for before he was disposed of he placed 23 to his credit. Coxon now play of hard hitting, and the Services to fine exproise in leather hunting. After making 61 he was caught by Lloyd behind the wicket. F. Maitland's ateady 30 is worthy of all praise. Saunders crept into double figures, scoring 14 -wickets.

The Indian Statesman of the 25th ult. says :-The stranding and consequent loss of the British-India Company's steamer Arcat, was due to the sudden giving way of her steering gear. At the time of the accident at 1,85 p.m., the vesse was in charge of Mr. Paulson, senior master pilot, who boarded her at the Sandheads. Every thing seems to have gone well till she entered the eastern gut of the "James and Mary" in No. 4 track. The steamer was going full speed ahead, and, the officers and erew were at their respective stations, when in rounding the Waterloe-wreck buoy, the pilot noticed that her head was paying off towards the Muckraputty Lumps. The captain at the same time, sang out that the steering gear had carried away. The vessel becoming unmanageable, orders were immediately given to let go both anchors, but as she had a lot of way on, and owing, moreover it seems, to a defect in one of the links, the chains parted before the vessel's head could be brought to the tide, and so she drifted rapidly on to the Lumps, touched the sand, and heeled over to port in an instant. There was a rush then for the starboard side of the vessel, and on the passengers and crew collecting together, handkerchiefs were waved as signals to the steamers Armenia and Clan Matheson, which were crossing the Bar at the time, for assistance. Of course these vessels saw the accident, but apparently they couldnot then, without imminent danger to thomselves, have remained near the James and Mary, while to have lowered their boats without stopping their engines would have been to swamp them. The conduct of the two steamers, in making no attempt of any kind even to lower a boat, has not unnaturally been the subject of muchunfavourable remark among those whose lives were in such imminent peril. Several native craft which were shout at the time were also signalled, but neither did they offer any assistance. So far as we have been able to ascertain, happily, only five persons, (natives, who jumped overboard when the ship struck and canted over) have been drowned. Four of these, two lascars and two firemen, formed part of the ship's crow, the fifth man being the chief officer's servant. Mr. McKay, the chief officer, had a narrow escape himself. He was on the bows attending to the anchor when the vessel struck, and was thrown overboard, but managed to save himself. rest of the passengers and crew were all saved, though their's has been nothing short of a miraoulous deliverance. Mr. Paulson, the pilot, affirms that he saw only two men drowned, and believes it to be very likely that others who are given up as lost, drifted down the river, and were picked up by some of the native boats. This is, however, but a forlorn hope at best, we fear.

LONDON, 13th October. Mr. Chamberlain, M.P., addressing a meeting at Belfast last night, said he was willing to concede that a great extension of local government in Ireland should be granted, but a distinct recognition of separate nationality amounted to absolute independence, as the ties between England and her colonies without federation were only temporary. He contended that if an attempt to make Ireland like Canada and Australia it would result in the creation of a separate kingdom, and perhaps a republic. A coroner's jury have found eleven bailiffs and also Captain Hamilton and a land agent guilty of the marder of one Kinsella, who was shot in an eviction riot in County Wexford. It is, however, expected that the Crown will enter a nolle proseque in this case, and in the case of Inspector Brownrigg and the five constables against whom a jury returned a verdict of marder in connection with the Mitchelstown riots.

LONDON, 14th October. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, speaking in Ulster, said he proposes to abolish the dual ownership of land by the State buying out the landlords, and reselling it to the tenants; Irish resources being sufficient, he maintains, to provide security for the purchase money. He also advocated migration, emigration, and the carrying out of a scheme of public works in Ireland, so as to afford relief from the present congested state of the 1st November :- For Yokohama-889 bags su-

To what vast dimensions pill-taking has grown may be imagined when we say that in England alone about 2,000,000,000 (two thousand million) pills are consumed every year. In early days pills were made slowly by hand, as the demand was comparatively small. To-day they are pro-

No form of medication can be better than a pill, provided only it is intelligently prepared.

But right here occurs the difficulty. Easy as it may seem to make a pill, or a million of them, there are really very few pills that can be honestly commended for popular use. Most of them either undershoot or overshoot the mark. As every-

Such pills are harmful, and should never be used. They sometimes even produce hemorrholds. Without having any particular desire to praise one pill above another, we may, nevertheless, name Mother Seigel's Pills, manufactured by the well-known house of A. J.
